

Luna Restaurant Radio Commercial #1 — 30 sec.

Nick Danger version

NICK

It was a dark night. My girl and I headed downtown, lookin' for food. Great food.

We went to Broadway and smelled it: The heady aroma of New York steaks rippin' down the streets. Adam's Place. The place. We stepped up and took over a table on the patio. I held her close. She likes it intimate.

We had tapas—spanish hors d'oeuvres between 3 and 11 bucks—and great drinks.

Then I heard the scream.

NATASHA

(screams with delight.)

Oh, Nicky!!!

NICK

It was my girl. She's the excitable kind. She leaned against me and breathed into my ear.

NATASHA

(sultry whisper)

This is so romantic.

NICK

Luna. That's where it happened. Right next to Adam's Place on Broadway.

Downtown.

30 East Broadway. 344-6948.

We're goin' back.